

Flash Memory

IT'S HOT

[What else would you expect from STMicroelectronics]

Plan your next weeks satellite viewing and chances are you're using flash memory. Change the security settings on your internet shopping profile or update the software for your dynamic feedback game controller and you're probably using flash memory. In fact, flash memory is giving new levels of flexibility to a whole range of digital products. Flash memories like those designed by STMicroelectronics and shipping in their millions. Drawing on years of experience designing dedicated microchips for some of the world's leading manufacturers, ST combines system know-how with technological expertise to produce flash memories that outstrip the most demanding standards. For more information on the hottest property in digital entertainment, visit us at flash.st.com.